Road map and directions

1. HOW TO REACH TRENTO

By plain

The closest airports are the followings:

Verona (100 Km) is the nearest and most convenient airport near Trento. It is mostly served by flights to and from mainland Europe, Ireland and the UK. From here, it is easy to reach the Verona railway station by a 20-minute shuttle service. The trip from Verona to Trento takes approximately 1 hour and there are trains departing quite often (see section "By train" below).

Munich (335 Km), located in Germany, is a very good international airport with a frequent connection to Trento by train. The trip from Munich to Trento takes approximately 5 hours (see section "By train" below).

Milan (Malpensa) (264 Km) is the nearest long-haul international airport for reaching Trento. By using a 45-minute shuttle service it is possible to reach the Milan railway station, where you can take a train to Trento (see section "By train" below). In general, the total time for the trip is 3 hours (about 2 hours from Milan to Verona and 1 hour from Verona to Trento).

Venice (173 Km) is an alternative long-haul international airport which is about 3 hours from Trento by train. To get to the train station from the airport there is a shuttle service that takes about half an hour.

Other airports near Trento are:

Bergamo (180 Km)
Innsbruck (181 Km – Austria)
Milano – Linate (226 Km)

By car

Trento is located on the principal North-South motorway (autostrada/Autobahn) A22, and is approximately 240 km northeast of Milan and 100 km north of Verona.

For detailed driving directions to Trento, browse the map below or look through the ViaMichelin web site.

By train

From both Verona and from Milan there are frequent daily trains running to Trento, which is located conveniently on the principal Verona-Brennero railway line. The approximate journey from Verona is 1 hour, while it is 3 hours from Milan.

From North (Munich, Innsbruck) there are also daily trains running to Trento. For train times and fares, please visit the Trenitalia web site and the Deutsche Bahn web site.

Travellers should remember that tickets must be validated in Italy before boarding the trains. To do so, use the yellow machines you find on the platforms.

2. HOW TO REACH THE HOTEL ALBERMONACO

Participants will have accommodation at the Albermonaco
